HIGHLIGHTS OF CURRENT EVENTS

By Marne Camp

There has been considerable discussion recently in connection with the formation of a third party. Many think or hope that such a party will be formed, if not by 1948, then by 1952. The discussion centers about the dissatisfaction of liberal elements with the present programs of both the Democrats and Republicans.

Many think that some leader with a following—Henry Wallace, for example—will gather his cohorts and sweep the nation.

LAST MOVEMENT IN 1860

They seem to forget that the last successful third party movement was in 1860, when the present Republican party elected Lincoln President. It then became one of the "two" parties.

These people also forget that a true third party movement cannot be organized by a hierarchy at the top, but must be a spontaneous movement of a large number of people. The classic example of that was the Populist party, which was greeted by an unparalleled enthusiasm throughout the West and South in 1896.

CONTROL TAKEN

The Populists (or People's party) had existed previous to that time, but in that year it absorbed the Democratic party and took it away from Wall Street control.

William Jennings Bryan was nominated by virtue of the great enthusiasm evoked at the convention by his famous "Cross of Gold" speech. Taking "free silver" as the major issue, Bryan's platform also stood for rights of labor, aid to the little farmer, non-discrimination in freight rates and many other unheard-of reforms.

PEOPLE ANSWER

The people of the West and South answered. The laborer, the farmer, the small business man, the white collar worker—all responded to the cause. But they were not strong enough to cope with Wall Street and the power it had over the press and the money it had to swell campaign coffers. Mark Hanna's little boy, McKinley, defeated Bryan.

But the people did not forget. They kept on trying. Finally, under Teddy Roosevelt, a great many Republican "insurgents" joined them in their demands for a more democratic government in Washington. These insurgents became more rebellious during President Taft's term when another period of reaction set in.

PROGRESSIVE PARTY

Finally, in 1911, these Republicans, under the leadership of Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, formed the Progressive Party, and in 1912, nominated Teddy Roosevelt and Hiram Johnson of California to head their ticket. This, however, effected a split in the Republican ranks, and the Democrats, led by Woodrow Wilson, swept into office.

The Progressives found, however, that they really had won, for the new President was dedicated to a policy called "The New Freedom," which embodied all the reforms the liberals had been advocating for 25 years.

WAR STOPS REFORMS

World War I put a stop to the reforms of Wilson, and another period of reaction was entered in the post-war days.

The Progressives remained active, and, in 1924, on a ticket headed by the senior La Follette and

Four Titles Won at Davis Mass Meet

San Francisco State athletic teams made a clean sweep of the Far Western Conference at Davis last week-end by copping four more titles. The fifth, the baseball crown, was captured by the Gator nine two weeks previous.

After Coach Dick Boyle's golfers had registered a decisive triumph over their opponents Friday, Dan Farmer's netsters, Hal Harden's swimmers and Ray Kaufman's trackmen garnered overwhelming wins in their respective fields Saturday.

TOUR 253 COURSE

Gator golfers John Linn, Gordon Romey and George Albrecht toured the Woodland Flyers' green for a low total of 253, while Humboldt, Cal Aggies and Southern Oregon teams blanketed the course in 259, 285 and 295, respectively.

Joe Woolfson won the tennis singles title by downing Ken Tinkler of Chico in two straight sets, 6-0, 6-1. State's double combination, Merrill Ehmke and Bill Holland, whipped the Aggies' Chuck Rogers and Bryce Dewey, 6-2, 6-4.

Bogo Keller was a triple winner as the Tide tankmen outswam the Aggie poolmen, 57-43. Southern Oregon racked up five points for third place.

SWEEP SEVEN FIRSTS

Gator trackmen swept seven firsts out of 15 events to defeat the contending Cal Aggie ovalmen, 57½-49½. Chico nabbed third with 31 points; Humboldt placed fourth with 26, and Southern Oregon tallied one.

Lone double winner was the Gators' middle distance king, Don Oakes, who captured both the mile and 880 events.

Other State winners were John Holden in the two mile; Hal Fox, 220; H. S. Sanford, broad jump; John Comach, shot put; and State's mile relay team, consisting of Don Meagher, Earl Boles, Charles Graves and Fox. All of the aforementioned won first place gold medals.

OTHER MEDAL WINNERS

Second place silver medal winners were: Jack Byrne, 880 and mile; Fox, 100; and John Shepherd, low hurdles.

Third place bronze medal winners were: Carter Toler, century; Boles, furlong; and Hank Watty, two mile.

Fourth place copper medal winners were: Charles Graves, 440; Dave Hyde, low hurdles; Boles, javelin; Charles Hearnton, high jump; and Bud Call, pole vault.

Inklings to Go On Stands June 2

Summer 1947 issue of Inklings, State's literary magazine, will be on the stands Monday, June 2. Some of the college's best writers will be represented in the magazine, Irv Thomas, co-editor, stated.

An interpretive analysis of American foreign policy by Bill Dennis is one of the many articles to appear in the magazine. A human story with an unusual ending has been submitted by Hy Bik.

Price of Inklings has been raised to 15 cents for student body card holders, and 25 cents without.

Comedy to Show For Last Time Tomorrow Night

Received favorably by enthusiastic audiences, William Shakespeare's comedy, "Twelfth Night" ends a five-day run tomorrow evening with curtain time set for 8:15 tonight for its fourth appearance at Aptos Auditorium.

Featuring revolving stage sets designed by Mr. Waldermar Johansen and authentic Elizabethan music supplied by members of the Creative Arts Division, the play is under the direction of Mr. J. Fenton McKenna, College Theatre head.

Interesting sidelight of the terminal major production of the College Theatre are the selections sung by the a capella choir during intermission.

Stuart Bennett, technical director; Ruth Sitton, assistant director; Betty Jane Wells, stage manager; and Pat Healy, property manager, compose the technical crew.

Aptos Junior High School is located at Ocean and Aptos—"K" car direct. Tickets may be purchased outside the Co-op for 60 cents with student body card; 90 cents without. (See review on Page 4.)

Freshman Entrance Exams Tomorrow

Limited enrollment for the fall semester is expected because of present increased enrollment and the limitation of classroom space, according to Mr. Walter J. Homan, dean of student personnel and guidance.

Plans to place greater significance on entrance examinations, particularly in the aptitude and reading scores, have been made. Qualifying entrance examination for new students will be held tomorrow. Testing is to begin at 8:30 and will continue all day.

All questions and problems dealing with admission to the college should be presented to Miss Florence Vance, registrar.

Pivnick Reports; College Praised on Legislation Stand

Student protest over possible passage of three "restrictive educational bills, was lodged before a Sacramento Legislative committee last week.

Representing State's student body at the committee hearings were President Izzie Pivnick and Tom Brigham, who were accompanied by Mr. R. Will Burnett, head of the science department. Burnett spoke as an individual on his own behalf.

BILLS STUDIED

The delegates previously had studied 27 bills sponsored by Senator Jack Tenney (R., Los Angeles) concerning education and found 10 which they considered a hindrance to education in this State.

The three bills presented before the committee May 8 were 1029, 1030 and 1031.

Also opposing the bills were representatives from the AVC, Northern California Committee to Defend Education, California Teachers Association, Teachers of Los Angeles and the California Congress of Parents and Teachers.

STATE PRAISED

Spectators included Miss Phyllis Seidkin, editor of the Daily Californian. The UC paper featured an editorial this week, praising the action of State's Associated Students in voicing their protests and criticizing the Executive Council of UC for failing to act.

Pivnick spoke only on bills 1029 and 1030, which were sent to a subcommittee for rechecking. These bills will be presented again before the committee.

Bill 1031 was amended, passed by the committee, and is ready now for presentation to the Legislature.

Fellowships Open To IRC Members

An $1800 fellowship for International Relations Club members is being offered by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Recipient of the award will be attached to the staff of the Endowment from September 1, 1947, to June 30, 1948. During that time he will be connected with the Secretariat of the United Nations and with voluntary international relations organizations whose headquarters are in New York City. Academic work also may be taken concurrently.

Joyce Anderson, P. O. Box 2163, will supply additional information to those interested.

Pre-Legal Courses Added to Curricula

A pre-legal curriculum has been added to the social science department, according to Mr. Floyd Cave, department head.

For further information, see Miss Florence Vance, Registrar.

VA Rules on Summer Pay

All awards of subsistence allowance to veterans in training under Public Law 346, the G. I. Bill, will be terminated by the Veterans Administration at the end of the present semester, it was announced this week by Mr. F. V. Pursel, veterans training officer.

In order to provide uninterrupted service to veterans, the VA has prepared a "Declaration of Intent" form which will be available in Room 119, College Hall, today. The form must be filed by May 26.

MUST COMPLETE FORMS

This form should be completed by all veterans who desire to continue here during summer session, transfer elsewhere for summer session, enter some other type of training, apply for annual leave or change their mailing addresses for checks due July 1.

Upon receipt of the declarations, the VA will continue subsistence allowance payments of veterans who intend to enroll at summer session here, and will issue a special supplemental certificate for three months to veterans who wish to attend the regular academic summer session of any other accredited college or university.

PROMPT ATTENTION

Requests for accumulated leave of absence and for changes of address will receive prompt attention.

The VA must approve any permanent changes of school or changes of course, and therefore any veteran who plans such change should consult his training officer without delay.

Free Party Slated For Card Holders Friday

O'Leary Relates Details of Canadian Trip

Vin O'Leary, president-elect, reported to the Board of Directors last Wednesday night the results of the conference of Western student body presidents at the University of British Columbia, Vancouver, B. C., which he attended last Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Highlight of the report was the personal contacts O'Leary said he made with the old and new student body presidents of Stanford, University of California, UCLA, USC and others.

O'LEARY MADE CHAIRMAN

Representatives of all the California State colleges were in attendance at the conference and formed an organization of State College student body presidents. O'Leary was made chairman.

Topics discussed at the conference included orientation of freshmen, student-faculty relationships, international exchange students and problems of newly elected student body presidents.

GATER PRAISED

O'Leary said that S. F. State was especially complimented on the "liberalism" of its faculty and the harmony of student-faculty relationships. He said that the Golden Gater received high praise as a college publication.

"State has more to offer than many other colleges represented at the conference. The cost of student body cards is higher, as well as compulsory at most other schools," he said.

YEAR BOOK

Editor Describes New Franciscan

Time for paying the additional cost of this year's Franciscan is growing short, according to Etta Bucholtz, editor.

The yearbook is larger and unique in its makeup. The extra cost will make it possible to have a 168-page edition bound with white imitation leather. Yearbooks will be distributed during the first week of June.

Section pages of the book have been constructed in a new way by Al Benson, art editor, and members of the art department. Evelyn Erickson, instructor, supervised the work.

Clay figures were modeled and set up with various backgrounds to give the effect of three dimensions. Figures were photographed and reproduced on section pages.

Money for the extra cost now is being accepted in the office of L. R. Frembling, Hut 4, and should be paid before June 2. Additional cost for student body card holders is $1.

Veterans who entered college last fall must pay $1, and those who entered in the spring, $3. Price of the yearbook for non-student body members is $4.

Students Urged To Buy Annual

This year the Franciscan has been prepare dby a competent staff who have tried to record for us San Francisco State's history for the past two semesters. Although our memory may fail us in the future, with the Franciscan before us we may relive many happy experiences. In order that you may better recall, invest now. Pay your additional dollar in the business office. IZZIE PIVNICK.

Assistants Needed

Seniors or graduate students with a major or minor in English, who are interested in teaching a section of remedial English next fall, should see Mr. Hugh C. Baker and Miss Caroline Shrodes next week.

'Golden Ball,' Other Terminal Events Listed

Formal graduation of State seniors will take place in the War Memorial Opera House June 6 at 8 p.m., according to an announcement from Dean P. F. Valentine's office.

The senior formal dance, "Golden Ball," will be held the following night in the Colonial Room of the St. Francis Hotel from 9 to 1.

"GET ON THE BALL"

Edward Borup, chairman of the senior ball, has planned an extensive publicity campaign. Announcements at rallies and "Get on the Ball" and "Golden Ball" posters will remind students of the dance. A ball hunt, patterned after an Easter egg hunt, is being planned to create interest.

Ray Hackett's Band, which plays regularly over KQW, will provide music for the dance. Bids will cost $2.25 per couple with student body cards, and $2.75 without.

Opening the traditional Senior Week, President and Mrs. J. Paul Leonard will hold a reception for graduates at their home June 4 from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m.

OTHER AFFAIRS LISTED

Senior luncheon is scheduled for June 5 at 12:30 in the Italian Room of the St. Francis Hotel.

Rehearsal for commencement exercises will be held at the War Memorial Opera House June 6 at 2 p.m.

On June 6, seniors will participate in the traditional pilgrimage. Dressed in caps and gowns, they will assemble in the gym at 9 a.m. and proceed to Frederic Burk School, Annex B, the gym, the palm tree, Anderson and College Halls.

Graduates then will hear "words of wisdom" from faculty members and fellow students. The pilgrimage will last about two hours.

'Student Needs' Tests Completed

Approximately 200 students were given a series of 27 tests last Monday and Tuesday in conjunction with the student needs experiment conducted under the supervision of the psychology department.

Purpose of the tests is to determine exactly what is needed by students in the curriculum, counseling service, faculty advisement, economic needs and other aspects which affect the college student.

EXAMS THOROUGH

Nineteen of the tests were aptitude and vocational; eight examined the students on their personality and behavior.

Exams have not been graded yet, said Mr. Boyd McCandless, conductor of the experiment, and the results probably will not be known until next semester. He explained that each test must be thoroughly graded in relation to student needs.

PROF IS PLEASED

Anyone who was tested and would like to know the results may see McCandless next fall.

Regarding the "guinea pigs" who were tested, McCandless said:

"The co-operation of the students who voluntarily submitted to the tests was terrific! At all times they showed intense interest and patience. We really appreciate their splendid contribution to what may improve curricula throughout the nation."

Noon Is Deadline For Editorial Bids

Petitions for editorial positions on campus publications for the ensuing semester and year are due today at noon. Applications should be turned in to Mr. Kenneth E. Young, faculty director of journalism, by post office box in Hut 4.

New editors will be announced at the annual publications banquet to be held next Monday evening at Lucca's Restaurant, 405 Francisco Street, 7:30 p.m. Price of the dinner is $1.85. Reservations should be placed with Young in Hut 4 today.

Dinner, Dance To Be Offered Student Body

First free student body affair in the history of State College will be held next Friday, it was announced recently by the Board of Directors. A student body card will be the only requisite for admission.

The event, including a dance, dinner and College Theatre production, will be held on campus and is designated by committee members as "a tangible benefit from your student body card."

"This is the first time something like this has been tried, and we hope it will prove successful," said Izzie Pivnick, president of Associated Students.

From 4 to 6 p.m. there will be a record dance in Annex B-9, Music Alley orchestra room. Dinner will be served at 6 p.m. in the student cafeteria. Both fish and meat dinners will be included on the menu.

After dinner a College Theatre production will be presented in Frederic Burk Auditorium.

Reservations must be made in the Student Body Office by 4 p.m. next Tuesday.

Organizations assisting Activities Commissioner Shadow Davidson are: College Theatre, Music Federation, Alpha Omega, Bib 'n' Tucker and Kappa Theta.

BOARD

New Directors To Take Over

Newly elected members of the Board of Directors were informed by Izzie Pivnick, outgoing president of Associated Students, that they will take over their positions on the board at the next meeting. This was announced at the regular meeting of the Board of Directors last Wednesday night.

NEW BOARD

"We, the old board, will sit on the side lines while you will discuss matters on the agenda," they were told. In addition, it was suggested that the new board study the constitution of Associated Students, and consider the problems of student body card sales for next semester.

The board also voted that post boxes be increased to 3000, reinstalled in College Hall, next semester and made available only to student body card holders. Non-student body card holders will be required to pay 25 cents for a post office box.

Other measures passed by the board included: Appointment of a committee to determine status of Associated Veteran Students as an active campus organization; retention of the signature method of identification on student body cards; examination and discussion of an auditor's report.

AMENDMENTS DISCUSSED

After the formal meeting both boards adjourned to the cafeteria and dinner following that with a complete discussion of amendments to the constitution.

FREMBLING EARNS TITLE

Associated Students of San Francisco State College is a corporation set up by law to administer student government on campus. Five major student body officers, seven members-at-large from the general student body and three faculty members comprise the Board of Directors—a board set up to deal with governmental affairs.

Maintenance of an effective and efficient governing board, aware of all phases of campus activity, is no simple task. Not the least of the board's worries is the proper distribution of student body funds to various departments and subsidized organizations of the college. Co-ordination of such a financial undertaking is the responsibility of the Administrator of Student Affairs, a business manager hired by the Associated Students.

Since the arrival of the new administrator, Mr. L. R. Frembling, at the beginning of the semester, problems of unpaid debts, additional appropriations needed by various groups and other financial matters have been solved.

Club treasuries have been investigated, a finance class for club treasurers has been established, a full-time printshop foreman has been employed, needed appropriations have been made and most financial obligations have been met.

The Student Body Business Office has become an office where student groups may receive expert advice in financial management of their specific organizations. Dance committees find needed help, publications are supported, drama and music are aided. Student activities are centralized and organized on a solid financial basis.

In order to function effectively, a corporation must be financially sound. All student affairs must have a focal point, if success is to be expected.

Frembling is to be praised for his fine work in co-ordinating campus finances. He truly can be called Administrator of Student Affairs.

Board Has Answer to Student Gripes

Last month Associated Students had an election rally at the Midtown Theatre. Some student body members went, heard the candidates introduced and listened to campaign speeches.

The next day they voted some candidates into office, and then promptly forgot about them. Or so it seems, because few students, since then, have bothered to see if the people they elected are doing their jobs.

Still the oft-heard gripes persist—"Why can't we have lower prices in the Co-op?"—"What stand is State taking on the Tenney bills?"—"Where's the money in the student body fund going?"

No one seems to know where to find the answers.

It is difficult even to find some one able to point out student body officers when they are sitting at nearby tables in the Co-op.

But should a student walk into a meeting of the Board of Directors and avail himself of the opportunity to see student government at work, his eyes would be opened to the whys and wherefores of many campus issues.

Every Wednesday at 4 p.m. student body officers and members-at-large meet with faculty advisers and the Administrator of Student Affairs in the Activities Room to discuss and vote on issues and policies which affect every student on campus. It is here that answers to those oft-heard questions are found.

If you want to know why certain things are done or not done on campus, attend your Board of Directors meetings. Show the people you put in office that you are interested in the way they vote on measures which concern you. See for yourself what your student government is doing for you.—E. E.

Co-op Makes Most of Bad Set-up

The student cafeteria, along with other campus facilities, has suffered in past years due to lack of adequate space and equipment to accommodate the majority of students enrolled at the college. These limitations cannot be overcome under conditions prevailing on the present campus.

In spite of the many handicaps she has faced, however, Mrs. Erna Lehan, Co-op manager, has succeeded in giving to the students good meals, relatively quick service and an attractive cafeteria.

Excellently prepared plate lunches, breakfast specialties and a la carte orders are available to students desiring to patronize the Co-op. The line-up for food during rush hours is great, but capable and courteous student "waiters" are on duty to serve customers as quickly as possible.

Attractive display cases and well-selected posters, against a background of newly painted and decorated walls, presents a picture not displeasing to the eye.

The management's open requests for suggestions and constructive criticism from students, as evidenced in its advertising placed in the Golden Gater, is to be commended. The request proves that the management is willing to change Co-op policy in any way which will benefit the majority of students.

Editorials and features in the Golden Gater reflect the opinions of the writers. They do not necessarily represent student or university opinion. Unsigned editorials are expressions of the editor.

Wayne University is the first university or college in the United States to offer a curriculum preparing disabled veterans for professional positions. Each veteran is treated individually by qualified graduate students who are preparing for positions as rehabilitation agents. The handicapped veteran is helped to determine what his special abilities are and in what fields he would be best suited. Then he is assisted in finding a job, after which he receives services which either correct or lessen his physical handicaps.

Naval Cruise Proves Tragedy

By GENE JOHNSON

Standing on the dock and letting the eyes wander over the boat perched perilously in the water, I wondered if I had been wise in accepting the invitation of the Naval Reserve to accompany them on a cruise to Monterey.

They called it a Destroyer, but I think their tense was wrong. It looked destroyed.

I walked up the gangplank and game my name to an individual who (pardon the Navy slang) looked very "salted."

BUNK IN BACK

"Your bunk is back dere (he actually called it the sterno, but I will keep the language simple for the land lubbers), down tree decks. I wouldn't go down just now though, the boys are still scooping out the bilge."

He opened his mouth to say more, but his voice was drowned out by a whistle toot. Shouts came from all directions:

"We're under way! Cast off the poop-deck! Keel-haul the bos'n! Lan'so'slnmnby the fo'csle" shouted the officers.

"Oi! Oi!" answered the enlisted men.

20 FEET FROM DOCK

We were about 20 feet from the dock when it all started to happen. The boat began to bob and weave. It seemed like it was trying to break all the records of Najinski of jumping into the air and twiddling the toes before descending.

"You'll get used to it," said the man holding me by the seat of the trousers to prevent me from falling overboard.

"You're very comforting," I wretched.

BECOMES WORSE

But as the voyage progressed I became worse and worse. Once I tried to commit suicide by eating barnacles, but I discovered that they are not sufficiently toxic. They are fed daily to sailors of the regular Navy with sugar and cream in lieu of grapenuts.

When we arrived in Monterey, 20 years later, I was carried gently off the boat and deposited on the dock. I am still on the dock. I haven't the money to return by rail nor the courage to return by sea.

Film Shows Jungle Life

By HY BIK

Come wiz me to ze jungles of darkest Africa and meet (trumpet fanfare) ruthless, love-mad Joan Bennett! (fanfare in higher key) knowing, cowardly Robert Preston! — and (slow rising crescendo on kettle drums) proud, virile Gregory Peck! in (full symphony orchestra with Los Angeles Municipal Chorus) THE MACOMBER AFFAIR!!!

Based on Ernie Hemingway's "The Short Happy Life of Francis Macomber" (which, Myrtle, simply will not fit on marquees), the motion picture tells about an American socialite (Preston) and his incompatible wife (Bennett) who hire a professional hunter (Peck) to guide them through a big-game hunt.

MEETS LION

When Preston meets his first lion straight-on, he remembers that he forgot his glasses and scurries back to get them, leaving Gregory to knock off the lion with his own lily-white trigger finger. Joan, who always thought her husband was some kind of stinker, now hates him because ooh! she just can't stand a coward and, besides, Gregory Peck is standing around waving his libido at her.

Sooo—Joan sort of accidentally shoots Preston dead and then proceeds to break out in hysterical sobs. (Ah, but was the shooting REALLY accidental? What do YOU think?)

DIALOGUE PRESERVED

In the original story, Joan leaves her connubial tent in the middle of the night and when she returns the following conversation ensues:

Preston: "Where have you been?"

Joan: "Out to get a breath of air."

Preston: "That's a new name for it."

SCENE NOT WASTED

Now, in the movie that naughty dialogue did not caress the pink, shell-like ears of the audience, but inasmuch as everyone in the theater had a dirty mind, the scene wasn't wasted.

Schedule makers of the Alley are in straitened conditions. They have a super show, The Oratorio, which will climax the music department's active program this semester. Rub is that a "we want it in S.F." faction is in fierce opposition to a "we want it in East Bay" group.

They may end by compromising and staging the show on the Bay Bridge. The conductors would use the toll gates for podiums and participants would relieve the toll collectors of their duties.

Professor Hails From Germany

By EINA EICHNER

Mrs. Elly Wilbert, language department newcomer at State, recently arrived in the States from Shanghai, China.

Born in Berlin, Germany, Mrs. Wilbert studied languages and philosophy at Berlin University and completed her studies at the University of Cologne.

Returning last year to establish permanent residence in San Francisco, Mrs. Wilbert found American college students somewhat changed in their attitudes toward school and the world about them.

"Part of this is due to veteran students, who, through their experience and observation of conditions abroad, have a greater understanding of world affairs than prewar students," she said. "Their new-found determination to learn makes teaching a pleasure," Mrs. Wilbert concluded.

Stater Tries Auto Market; Gives Up on Accessories

By BILL GRIFFITH

Two years ago the "bright new world" was hiding behind every corner. I joined the citizens still feeling the touch of extra coin in the pockets, and placed my order for a new car.

"Have ya a new car in six months," the man said.

Meantime, like the other citizens, I bought a used car that wasn't worth it. Last week I dropped in to see the automobile man.

RECEIVES NOTICE

"Received your notice that my new car is awaiting me. You're only eighteen months late."

"There have been strikes and shortages and—"

"Off the cuff sales?"

"Please."

"Okay," I answered. I looked around the display floor. "Which is my $1350 car?"

ACCESSORIES EXTRA

"Thirteen hundred and fifty dollars? Oh, that's without accessories, naturally. For instance, you want a steerin' wheel, don't ya? Well, that's fifty bucks extra."

"I could steer it with ropes, like a coaster."

"Naw! Now, let's see. Bumpers, eighty bucks."

"Maybe I don't want your bumpers. Maybe I'll put on my own bumpers."

BUMPERS NECESSARY

"Naw! You gotta take bumpers. Radio, one-fifty; hearter, fifty."

"Does the engine come extra, too?"

"Naw! Your thirteen-fifty covers the engine."

"And seats? Do I get seats?

"Yeah, but no seat covers. Them is fifty bucks extra."

"Oh, and doors. Do I get doors?"

"Yeah, but first we gotta put windows in 'em, which is—"

TOTAL COST ASKED

"Wait. Wait! How much does the car cost. I mean, all at once. The total. Just give it to me."

"Two thousand. Tax is—"

"Extra?"

"Yeah."

"Look, friend. I am a college student, a poor and honest—"

"Well," he interrupted, "ain't that fine. A student. Where ya go?"

"San Francisco State College, and—"

"Yeah? Gonna be a teacher?"

"No. I want to own a new car some day."

WANTS EDUCATION

"Gee," he smiled. "I always wanted an education. Nuthin' like a good education."

"Anyhow," I went on, "what do I get for my own car on the trade-in?"

"A hundred bucks."

"What! I paid—"

"Yep. Nuthin' like a good education. Me, I ain't got no education."

"Mister," I said, as I tore the order into small pieces, "you have an education that works perfectly these days."

State Registers Clean Sweep in Far Western Conference Meet

Woolfson Garners Net Singles Title

With the Gators' top three netsters competing, the Far Western Conference tourney at Davis last Friday and Saturday turned out to be nothing more than a runaway for the heavily-favored Staters as they trounced, pummeled and otherwise cleaned house with their conference rivals to cop both the singles and doubles titles with amazing ease.

Representing the Buchanan-portaled college in the singles was Gator Captain Joe Woolfson, who defeated Chico's Ken Tinker, 6-0, 6-1, in the finals.

In the semi-finals Woolfson had ousted Ellis Williamson of Humboldt by the same score. In both matches Woolfson had things pretty much his own way, although a miniature gale hampered his efforts somewhat.

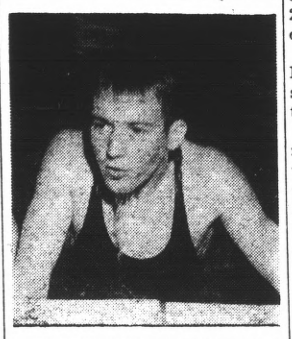
In the finale Ehmke and Holland alternated between sleeping and playing tennis to garner the doubles crown, 6-2, 6-4, over Chuck Rogers and Bryce Dewey of the Cal Aggies.

Finishing up the tennis season next Saturday at the Golden Gate Park courts, the Purple Raiders will be seeking their ninth win out of 12 starts when they clash in a return match with St. Mary's.

In their last encounter the Staters marked up a 6-3 decision in their books.

Aquatic Star Triple Victor

DAVIS, May 10.—Paced by triple winner Lawrence Keller, the Golden Tide natators outswam the Cal Aggie poolmen, 57-43, in the Far Western Conference meet today to finish up the 1947 aquacade season undefeated. Southern Oregon, only other entry, placed third with five points.



TRIPLE WINNER.—Lawrence Allan Keller, better known as Bogo, captured three firsts last Saturday in the Far Western Conference swim meet at Davis. Keller won the 100, 220 and 440 freestyles, and ended up the season undefeated in the latter two events.

State swimmers garnered six firsts in nine events, with the aforementioned Keller winning the 100, 220 and 440 freestyles. Roger Sobel copped the 50 yard dash, Don Crandell won the 150 yard backstroke, and the Tide's 400 yard relay team captured that event.

Oakes Wins Double To Pace Trackmen

DAVIS, May 10.—State ovalmen bested a high wind today to push through to a 57½-49½ victory over Cal Aggies, its nearest rival in the five-way track meet, to win the Far Western Conference cinder meet. Chico finished third with 31 points; Humboldt, fourth with 26, and Southern Oregon fifth with one.

Double winner of the day was Don Oakes, Gator middle distance star, who took both the mile and the 880.

Best marks of the meet were made in the high jump and the pole vault when Mel Martin of the Chico Wildcats cleared 6 feet 4¼ inches in the former event, and Turkey Thompson of Humboldt soared 12 feet 6 inches in the latter.

John Comach of State came through with a surprise win in the shot put when he put the iron ball 43 feet.

H. S. Sanford outjumped everyone in his department to nab the broad jump with a leap of 22 feet 9¼ inches.

John Holden, Tide distance man, waltzed in 40 yards ahead of his nearest foe to win the two mile event in 10:45.6.

Hal Fox made up for his second place in the century by coming back to win the furlong by five yards in 23.1. As was mentioned previously, a high wind blowing into the runners' faces accounted for the not too outstanding times.

Duke Moore Judo Show Slated For Gym Tonight

Expert performers from the Duke Moore School of Judo will display different throws and holds in an exhibition slated for the gym tonight at 8 o'clock.

The all-free show will feature various throws by green, brown and black belt holders.

Special events of the evening will be an exhibition by Duke Moore and his wife, Vera. In addition, a feature match will be held between black belt holders, Moore and Glen Smith.

Sixteen men are slated to see action in the one-hour scheduled program. Collier McDermen, brown belt holder, will be the lone State judo performer present.

BLANKET FINISH.—A large size blanket could have covered State's Don Oakes (right), Cal Aggies' John Hooper and Jack Byrne (not in the picture) as they crossed the finish line in the Far Western Conference meet last Saturday. Oakes, winner, and Byrne, second, also finished one-two in the mile run.

Five Tide Ovalmen Represent Locals In Fresno Relays

By ED LEVITT

West Coast Relays, perennial meet for the nation's greatest track performers, takes place tomorrow night at Fresno with 1200 athletes competing, including State's mile relay team and broad jumper H. S. Sanford.

This fertile site, which has produced some of the country's standout track and field records, will be the scene of assemblage of cindermen from every college on the West Coast.

SPECIAL COLLEGE CLASS

State goes into competition under the special college class, which means the Gators will face athletes from Cal Poly, Whittier, Pomona, Fresno State, College of Pacific, San Jose State, Pepperdine, Cal Aggies, Chico and San Diego.

San Jose looms a favorite, with State a close runner-up. There's a possibility the Spartans may enter into a different class. If that comes about, Gator stock naturally will soar.

RELAY TEAM IMPRESSIVE

Coach Ray Kaufman's hot-footed relay team ran like antelopes in winning their event by 20 yards and thereby wrapping up the Far Western Conference crown for State last Saturday.

The squad, which comprises Don Meagher, Earl Boles, Charley Graves and Hal Fox, should give a good account of themselves in this prize meet.

SANFORD TO BROAD JUMP

H. S. Sanford will try to gain top recognition by oudistancing other contestants in the open-class broad jumping event. In the Far Western Conference Meet, Sanford registered a jump of 22 feet, 9 inches to notch first place. Sanford, it might be added, was not "pressed" in winning. Prior to the official leap, H. S. got off a jump of 24 feet 5 inches, but it was called back because of a foul. He will have to do better tomorrow, going up against San Diego's Willie Steele, who boasts the best jump in the world this year—25 feet 2 inches.

FOX DOUBTFUL IN CENTURY

Hal Fox's entry in the 100 yard dash remains doubtful as we go to press. A combination of Talbott, Cal Aggies sprinter, and a stiff wind prevented Hal from running number one in the century in the Far Western Conference Meet. Fox probably will just participate in the mile relay, being there is no 220 race in the West Coast Relays.

DIAMOND UPSET

Pollard Homers in Sixth To Down Bankers, 6-5

LAKE MERCED CAMPUS, May 8.—San Francisco State's baseball team proved that it is still a potent ball club by defeating a highly touted S. F. Bank of America outfit, 6-5, in the last inning. The victory gave State its 13th victory in 16 starts.

Outstanding player of the day was little Herbie Bill, who collected a double in two times at bat and tallied one run in addition to performing spectacularly in the field.

GATORS GRAB LEAD

The visitors started festivities in the first, scoring two runs on three hits. State came back with one run in the last half of the inning on hits by Pete Cuddyre and Mike Keropian. State added three runs in the second frame on singles by Jim Witt and John Pasenan, coupled with a double by Bill and a triple by Gene Cox.

The hard hitting bankers retaliated in the fourth and fifth to tie up the ball game. Coach Hal Harden pulled Pasenan in favor of Big Jim Pollard, who kept the visitors scoreless for the remainder of the game.

JIM SMASHES HOMER

In the last half of the sixth Big Jim lofted a high fast one over the left field wall, equaling the drive by San Jose's Smith earlier in the season. This smash proved costly for the visitors as it proved to be the winning run of the game.

The Gators conclude their baseball season tomorrow when they tackle the Cinnamon Bears on the Berkeley diamond at 2:30.

INTRAMURAL ROUNDUP

Sedley Is Paddle Champ; Maulers Cop Volleyball Title

A team and an individual were crowned champions this week as two-thirds of the spring intramural program came to a close.

Richmond Sedley grabbed the ping-pong championship by defeating the Music Alley's favorite son, Walt Tolleson, in three out of four sets. Sedley took the first two sets, 12-19, 21-17. Tolleson measured the champ in the third round, 25-23, but Sedley came back to garner the fourth and final frame, 21-19.

MAULERS COP CROWN

The mighty Mather Maulers copped the volleyball championship last Monday in the gym when they came from behind to subdue the Basehits. The 'Hits won the opener, 19-17; made it tough for their opponents in the second game, losing, 15-12, and tired badly in the rubber contest, 15-5.

George Albrecht, Norm Keller, Irv Edstrom, Will Ergas, Hal Fox and Pat Murphy made up the championship Mauler aggregation.

Softball, the final event on the spring program, got under way this week. Tuesday's contest found the power-laden Gator A. C. rolling over the Bunker Hills, 13-0. The winners made 15 hits and Gator pitcher Jack Root hurled a no-hitter.

"DARK HORSE" SLUGGERS

Big sluggers for the "dark horse" club of the league were Bill Huffmaster, who tripled, and Joe Heath, Scott Hope and Vic Pudlowski, doubled.

A hard hitting Tumbler nine pounded out a 13-1 triumph over Kilroy's Outfit Wednesday afternoon on the lower field to pull into a first place tie with the Gator Athletic Club. Bob DelGrande hurled for the victors.

Sigmas won by default over the Christian Agatheans when the latter failed to show on the upper field.

Guido DeGhetaldi, intramural director, emphasized the following points this week concerning the league:

1. A bulletin board, announcing all games for the week, is on the wall outside College Hall.

2. There is no excuse for any team missing a game because the schedule is posted. Any team forfeiting will be automatically eliminated from the league.

Box score of Tuesday's game:

Gator A. C.	ab.	r.	h.	Bunker Hills	ab.	r.	h.

INTERVIEW

Cager John Burton Will Leave State

A basketball star who wants to be a lawyer—that's the story of Sophomore John Burton. Quiet and unassuming, he was high score man on State's basketball squad this year and set a new scoring record in the San Jose tournament. Comparatively small for a cage man, the amazing forward is 5 feet, 9 inches tall and weighs 135 pounds.

As much as he hates to leave, Burton is going to transfer to USF this fall to take law courses not offered at State.

Born April 9, 1926, in Bakersfield, Burton came to San Francisco 10 years ago and now resides in the Sunset District. He played basketball at Lowell High, graduating from there in 1943.

John entered State in February, 1944, and signed up for a major in physical education. He tried his hand at baseball at that time.

Induction day for Burton came in June, 1944. He served in Europe with the 104th "Timberwolf" Infantry Division. When he returned from overseas he was stationed at Fort MacArthur in Los Angeles, where he "played a little basketball."

John re-entered State in September, 1946, changing his major at that time to government. Basketball is now a hobby. But hobby or not, his greatest thrill was being chosen most valuable player in the Ninth Service Command tournament.

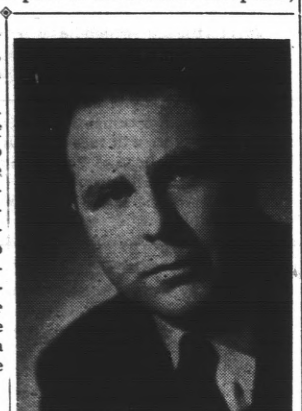
Drama Review

Actors Give Realistic, Noteworthy Performances in Major Production

College Theatre production of William Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," comedy in its fourth appearance this evening at Aptos Auditorium, may be hailed as the outstanding presentation of the semester.

Professional portrayals on the part of the student thespians, unique stage settings designed by Mr. Waldemar Johansen and Elizabethan music played throughout, combine to make the production the season's best.



J. FENTON McKENNA
directs production . . .

Directed by Mr. J. Fenton McKenna, the play tells the story of a woman, Viola (Edris Waite), who after a shipwreck goes into the service of the handsome Duke Orsino of Illyria (Judd Holden) disguised as a man. The plot thickens when Viola is expected to woo the Duke's beloved Olivia (Margaret Shearer), and does it so successfully that Olivia falls in love with Viola, whom she thinks to be a page. In the meantime, Viola has fallen deeply in love with the romantic Duke.

HOLDEN PORTRAYS ORSINO

Judd Holden is excellent as the dashing Orsino, and Edris Waite as Viola is wholly realistic. Both speak their lines with ease, and the audience ceases to remember them as actors but rather as living characters. Margaret Shearer as the lovely Countess Olivia succeeds in her portrayal of the beautiful woman unable to return Orsino's love.

Richard Egan as Sir Toby Belch, Olivia's drunken uncle, and Kenneth Phinney as Sir Andrew Aguecheek, her effeminate aspiring lover, give two of the outstanding performances. Particularly commendable is the scene in which both are drunk and attempt to light candles to guide them while retiring. Not for a moment does the audience feel the scene "put on." It lives.

LIPSEY OUTSTANDING

Bouquets also should go to Doris Lipsey as Maria, the devilish and flirtatious Olivia's woman. One feels it is not her first appearance in theater work. Don Michaelian as Malvolio, steward to Olivia, does a fine job as the Puritanical, old-maidish sort of person who delights neither in drinking nor making merry.

In every theater production there is one who "steals the show." Such a one is Jack Levinson in his portrayal of Feste, a clown. As the jovial court jester, then as the clown reflecting somewhat bitterly on his life and finally as the court singer, he is unsurpassable. He is understood by the audience. Levinson is to be commended for his very professional presentation.

HEDBERG WINS ACCLAIM

Art Herberg as Sebastian, supposedly drowned twin brother to Viola, is good as the non-fearing, adventurous youth who ultimately marries Olivia. Lewis Fosse and Bert Brauer as sea captains, respectively, give noteworthy performances. Tom Murphy, as the fun-loving Fabian, servant to Olivia, is good, and Richard Berger portrays well his small part as the priest.—Ed.

Drag to Direct General Summer Term Workshop

Among summer session courses offered this year will be a workshop in elementary curriculum, Mr. Hugh C. Baker, director, announced this week. Dr. Francis L. Drag, director of curricula in San Diego County schools, will be in charge of educational workshop.

Purpose of the workshop is to provide directed study in all aspects of elementary school programs. It is designed to accommodate teachers and administrators who desire additional courses, as well as students preparing for the teaching profession.

The workshop must be taken in conjunction with, or completed before, enrollment in one of the 12 group sessions. Two to six units will be given.

Of the group sessions s370A is equivalent to Education 134; s370C to Education 324; s370D can replace Art 104; s370E meets requirements for Music 81, as does s370F for Music 101.

To be held in conjunction with demonstration classes are s370H, s370J and s370K. Arrangements for a laboratory in connection with s370M, Audio-Visual Education, will be completed soon.

Off-Campus P. E. Classes Offered

New off-campus physical education will be offered for men and women in the fall semester, it was announced this week.

Following courses will be offered: P. E. 6ABCD, horseback riding; P. E. 52ABCD, ice skating; P. E. 18ABCD, bowling; P. E. 10ABCD, golf; and P. E. 13ABCD, archery.

Two social dancing courses, P. E. 22A and 22BCD, will be given. P. E. 22A is designed for beginners and will stress fundamentals of ballroom dancing. P. E. 22BCD will include demonstration and instruction in rhumba, samba, tango and other popular dances.

Folk and square dancing, P. E. 54ABCD, also will be open for recreation, plus one-half unit credit.

Broadcast

Program Aired Over KALW

"Musical Americana," the first in a series of frequency modulation broadcasts over KALW, San Francisco's educational station, was presented recently. Local schools have canceled classes between 2 and 3 p.m. in order to hear the broadcasts.

RAYMOND N. DOYLE

Written by Raymond Fournival and Richard Berger and directed by Raymond Yeager and Lewis Fosse, the first broadcast was a program of modern music by American composers. It was announced by Judd Holden and narrated by Fournival.

Selections played included "Latin American Fantasy," "Pavanne," "American Rhapsody" and a Victor Herbert Medley.

"The program," said Mr. Raymond N. Doyle, program supervisor and radio division head, "was built to make the music attractive to elementary and secondary school children by aiming the show directly to them."

New Humanities Courses Added

New humanities course, Contemporary Political Philosophy, will be offered in the fall curriculum. Mr. Louis Wasserman, an authority in this field, will teach the course. He recently published his book "Modern Political Philosophies."

A German course for science majors also is being offered next fall.

Humanities 198:

The Latin American Scene, a course directed by Mr. Somerville Thomson, also is scheduled for next semester.

Theatre to Be Visited

Mr. Hugh C. Baker will accompany a group of students to a performance of the Chinese Theatre on Grant Avenue next Thursday evening at 8 p.m.

Stater to Give Recital

State music student Lucille Lavender, soprano, will be featured in a recital next Tuesday at Steinway Hall in the Sherman Clay Building, San Francisco.

Education

Nursery Schools To Be Studied

Two courses in nursery school education will be offered from August 11 to 30, according to Mrs. Lynette Messer, director of the nursery school at Frederic Burk.

Administration and supervision of the nursery school and childhood growth and development will be instructed by Dr. Harriet O'Shea of Purdue University, Indiana. Miss O'Shea, who directs Purdue's pre-school laboratory, formerly held the same position at Mills College.

According to Mrs. Messer, an effort is being made to add Dr. Werner Wolfe of New York, author of "Personality of Pre-School Children," to the staff during the summer. Wolfe would present a course on personality of the young child.

Continuance of the entire nursery school project depends upon the passage of bill AB 1781, now before the State Legislature, Mrs. Messer said last Friday. The bill has gone to the floor of the Legislature with a "do-pass" from committee and soon will be voted upon. The Geddes-Davis bill in question favors continuation of state-supported nursery schools.

Nelson Appears in Play

Stater Greta Nelson will play the Red Queen in the Mountain Theatre production of "Alice in Wonderland" to be held next Sunday at 2 p.m. at Mount Tamalpais State Park, Marin County. Admission is $1, children 50 cents.

Current Events

Burton K. Wheeler, advocated recognition of Russia, the long-awaited eight-hour day and many other changes which had been urged since the days of the Populists.

SPLIT CAUSED

This time a split was caused within the Democratic ranks (whose nominee was a Wall Street lawyer named John W. Davis), and the Republicans, under Coolidge, were victorious.

In 1932 came the New Deal and FDR, who openly and directly advocated all reforms not yet effected which had been urged for the past 50 years. By 1941 all these were in effect, except public ownership of utilities. Many Populists had lived to witness the taking effect of reforms ranging from direct election of Senators to slum clearance. It was a long battle.

Today, anyone who talks of a third party must take all this into consideration. It is not impossible. But first the Progressives or liberals must formulate a new program. Today they are struggling to hold on to their gains. A new program is needed which will appeal to labor, agriculture and the great majority of the middle class.

If the 15,000,000 labor union members were to achieve unity, there would be a good sized nucleus for a new party. But that seems far-fetched.

FROM WEST AND SOUTH

Ever since the new West put Andrew Jackson into office, all progressive movements have been formed from Western and Southern elements.

They would of necessity have to form any new movement today. Their leader would have to come from those regions, and there are many of them qualified—Stassen, Morse, Sparkman of Alabama, Arnall of Georgia and other young men of both parties.

What is needed is a program—a program which would appeal mutually to the South and West—and it would not be hard to find.

What's Doing On the Campus

PHI EPSILON GAMMA

Climaxing the W. A. A. alumni week-end, Phi Epsilon Gamma, honorary women's physical education sorority, will hold an installation tea for new officers, May 25, 4-6 p.m., at the Emanuel Residence Club.

Incoming officers are: president, Carolyn Roswall; vice president, Norma Beltrame; secretary, Margot Schmidt; and treasurer, Violet Pfeiffer.

KAPPA DELTA PI

New officers of Kappa Delta Pi, national honor society, will be installed during the club's traditional picnic next Thursday at Sigmund Stern Grove.

Newly elected officials are: Rosemary Trawatha, president; Ruth Fraser, vice president; Betty Lou Ackert, recording secretary; Shirley Bercovich, corresponding secretary; Eugene Benefiel, treasurer; and Marie Louise Sommers, historian.

ALPHA OMEGA

Forms for the annual Alpha Omega Sorority Scholarship for women are available in Dean Mary A. Ward's office. Scholarship will cover cost of tuition for a semester and books required for courses.

BIB 'N' TUCKER

Members of Bib 'n' Tucker will spend next Sunday eating and swimming at Searsville Lake.

ALPHA MU GAMMA

Alpha Mu Gamma, honorary language fraternity, held a tea last Monday in the Activities Room. Plans were discussed for a terminal affair at a foreign restaurant and for summer socials. Mr. Humbert Smith, sponsor, discussed formation of language teams to address foreign language classes next semester.

W. A. A.

With Ira Blue, National Broadcasting Company sportscaster, as guest speaker, the annual installation dinner for incoming Women's Athletic Association officers will be held in the Red Room of the Fairmont Hotel May 23.

A dancing demonstration will be given by Kappa Delta Tau, women's dance sorority.

I. R. C.

I. R. C. elections are scheduled for May 19 at noon in the Activities Room. Following the election guest speaker Zev Brinner, University of California student and member of local Zionist organizations, will address members on "Palestine and the Jewish People."

GAMMA SIGMA PI

Mr. Somerville Thomson, language instructor, and Mr. Theodore E. Treutlein, history instructor, will discuss "Our Good Neighbor Policy" at the Gamma Sigma Pi meeting today at noon.
